Yuko Lucky Group

We, the Yuko Group, operate pachinko parlors, restaurants, golf courses, training gyms, and other facilities used by a wide range of people. Our 26 pachinko parlors in Japan function as an amusement business that many customers enjoy.
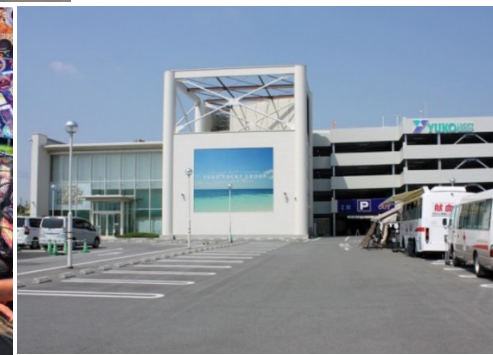

In order to provide better service, many individuals are employed by the Yuko Group. Of course, among them are working mothers and fathers who are raising children.

The Yuko Group offers maternity leave and childcare leave. As the number of workers who avail of these benefits grows every year, so does the employees' understanding of why such a system is needed. Yet, as both a company and as a workplace, there are measures we can take to enhance the child-rearing environment of our staff and to improve the work styles of our colleagues who provide them support.
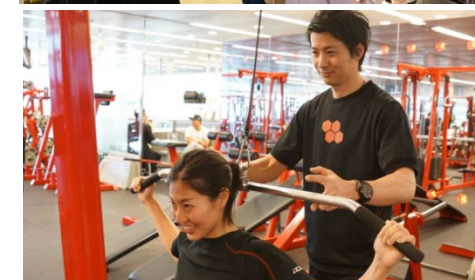

「How to Engage Everyone in the Workplace in Parenting with a Smile on Their Face」

Children are not raised solely by their family. Relatives, people in the community, and the companies where families work also support the growth of children. How can we work together to help each other and enjoy raising children?

We are actively seeking mechanisms and fresh ideas that companies can implement to nurture the children who will shape the future

Pachinko parlors feature an array of pachinko and slot machines, where customers sit to play. In large establishments, nearly 100 individuals are employed, comprising of both married and and unmarried members, some engaged in child-rearing responsibilities and others not.

Aside from pachinko parlors, the Yuko Group also operates restaurants, golf courses, and gyms to name a few.
